Important Information

To verify the status of your order check the View Order Status screen.

Your RBC Direct Investing account must be in good standing. If you do not have cash or margin excess available in your RBC Direct Investing account, please transfer funds to your account before you complete this transaction.

Modified orders may not be processed if they reach the exchange after the original order has been filled or partially filled. Orders cannot be modified after market close on the order expiry date.

Trailing commissions apply to certain exchange-traded funds and closed end funds. For more information, please go to <http://www.rbcdirectinvesting.com/trailers/>

Any trade commission you pay with RBC Rewards points to an eligible registered account is considered a "contribution". This means that you will have less contribution room in your registered plan than you otherwise would have, and you may over-contribute to it. It is your sole responsibility to make sure you have sufficient contribution room within your registered plan. The Canada Revenue Agency may apply tax penalties for over-contribution. RBC DI is not responsible for any such penalties.
